SUMMER SCHOOL FOR LIBRARIANS.

EIGHTEENTH COURSE, 23 JUNE TO 2 AUGUST, 1919.

Admission.

1. Only those are admitted who are filling or who are under definite appointment to permanent library positions, the duties of which are regular employment on schedule time, and the compensation for which is on a definite salary basis. No substitutes or apprentices or other persons employed irregularly by the hour will be admitted. All appointments must be for at least one year after the completion of the course.

2. A High School diploma will be required of all candidates for a certificate from the Commission. In rare cases, individuals who give evidence of the equivalent of a High School education will be accepted as special students and will receive credit for work done, but will not be granted a certificate. Such special students will be accepted only after fully qualified applicants have been accepted.

3. Those who have had no library experience must serve at least four weeks in a well organized library before taking the course unless excused by the director of the school.

4. The reading of the following books is required for admission:

Bostwick, Arthur E. The American public library. Appleton.....$1.50
Olcott, Frances W. The children's reading. Houghton..... 1.25

In addition, applicants must read the books on the appended juvenile list and one or two from each group of the adult list. If books are not available at your own library, they may be borrowed from the Public Library Commission.

Instructors.

Instruction will be given by William J. Hamilton, Elizabeth C. Ronan, Margaret A. Wade, of the Commission staff, Miss Carrie E. Scott of the Indianapolis Public Library, Miss Virginia M. Tutt of the South Bend Public Library and other lecturers.

Course of Study.

Instruction will be given in the form of lectures. These will be supplemented by practical work with books, subjected to daily revision. About eight hours each day will be required for study and lectures. The books used in the practice work will include a special collection owned by the Public Library Commission.

The following curriculum will be given: 90 lessons.

Cataloging	20 lessons
Classification	12 lessons
Book selection	10 lessons
Reference	12 lessons
Work with children	10 lessons
Administration	8 lessons
Other miscellaneous subjects	18 lessons
	90 lessons

Other general lectures will be given by visiting librarians.

Credit for Work Done.

Certificates will be given to those students who have complied with all entrance requirements; have passed in all courses, and are in the opinion of the instructors qualified for service as librarians or assistants. These certificates will be issued only upon completion of one year of successful library experience after the summer training. Students not receiving certificates will be given pass cards for the courses successfully completed.

Expenses.

The instruction is free to residents of Indiana.

Expenses may be estimated:

Supplies and textbooks, about..... $10.00
Room and board for 6 weeks .....$34.00-$39.00

Students will be accommodated in the college residence, a substantially constructed brick building, located on the campus in close proximity to the lecture halls and laboratories. It is equipped with modern conveniences. The rooms contain all necessary furniture, but students provide their own bed linen, bed covers, towels and toilet articles. The rooms are entirely cared for by maids. The dining-room service is directly under the control of the college, and all possible pains are taken to make the meals wholesome and attractive. The head of the residence has general oversight of the young women living there. The advantages of this home are offered to young women at lower rates than those at which approximately equal advantages may be obtained in private residences.

Correspondence with reference to rooms and all other inquiries should be addressed to

WILLIAM J. HAMILTON, Secretary
Public Library Commission,
104 State House, Indianapolis, Ind.

SPECIAL ADVANCED COURSE, JULY 14–26.

The Public Library Commission will this summer offer again the two weeks course in advanced cataloging and methods given in 1915 and 1917. About thirty-five librarians in Indiana have taken this work and all have found it both enjoyable and profitable.

The course this year will be in charge of Miss Zana K. Miller, formerly librarian of the Spies Library of Menominee, Michigan, and at present acting editor of Public Libraries. While as in former years the main feature will be advanced work in cataloging for those who have had the elementary summer course, it is planned to discuss general problems of administration in seminar fashion. Summer school graduates and others with considerable experience in cataloging are eligible. It is planned that outside speakers for the elementary course will visit the school during this period so that both sections may hear these talks.

While the college dormitory will be occupied by the students of the regular six weeks course, board and room may be obtained in Irvington for about $8.00 a week. Other expenses depend upon the individual.

Librarians interested should apply at once. The class must be limited to twelve members.

THE LIBRARY SCHOOL OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

PUBLIC LIBRARY COMMISSION
OF INDIANA

SUMMER SCHOOL FOR LIBRARIANS

TWENTY-SECOND COURSE, 20 JUNE TO 8 AUG., 1923

SHORTRIDGE HIGH SCHOOL

ROOMS 46-49

INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA

Two courses will be offered this year: one for librarians and assistants in public libraries and one for school librarians.

Address all correspondence for either course to Della Frances Northey, Acting-Secretary, Indiana Public Library Commission, 415 State House, Indianapolis.

REGISTRATION.

Application for admission should be made, and the required blanks filed, before June 1, and as much earlier as possible. These blanks are furnished by the Public Library Commission. The quarters of the School are limited and supplies must be specially ordered.

Students must enroll June 19th to be ready for their first lecture appointment Wednesday morning June 20, at eight o'clock.

INSTRUCTORS AND EQUIPMENT.

The members of the Commission staff assisted by Miss Carrie E. Scott of the Indianapolis Public Library, Miss Pearl Durst, librarian of the Manual Training High School, Indianapolis, and Mrs. Julia S. Harron of the Cleveland Public Library will give the instruction. The books used in the practice work will include a special collection owned by the Public Library Commission and the close proximity to the Indianapolis Public Library permits the use of its book collection.

EXPENSES.

There is no charge for tuition to residents of Indiana.

The Y. W. C. A. directors have offered again to take care of about thirty students in the dormitory plan as last year. The open park on which the rooms face, the cafeteria, parlors, study hall and swimming pool make a very comfortable home. A list of rooms elsewhere will be available for those preferring different arrangements.

Expenses may be estimated:

Supplies and text books about	$10.00
Room and Board	$60-$70

COURSE FOR LIBRARIANS AND ASSISTANTS IN PUBLIC LIBRARIES.

This course in no way claims to take the place of the training offered by a full year's course of study at an approved library school. It is designed simply to meet the needs of the small public libraries of the state that at present cannot afford trained service.

ADMISSION.

1. Since the object of the Summer School for librarians is to train for more efficient service those already in positions, only such persons and those under definite appointment to permanent positions on regular schedules and definite salaries can be admitted.

2. A High School diploma will be required for admission. In rare cases other individuals who give evidence of a wide knowledge of books and successful experience, will be accepted.

3. Those who have had no library experience must serve at least four weeks in a well organized library before taking the course unless excused by the director of the school.

4. At the close of the third week of the course, the instructors will revise the class roll. Students not giving evidence of ability to render good service in the libraries in their communities will be asked to give up the work.

REQUIRED READING.

COURSE OF STUDY.

The course of study is systematically planned to include as much as possible of library technique and methods. Instruction will be given in the form of lectures, supplemented by collateral reading and practical work with books, subjected to daily revision. At least eight hours will be required for study and lectures, with a half holiday on Saturdays. The following subjects will be taught:

90 lessons:

Cataloging	20 lessons	Reference	12 lessons
Classification	12 lessons	Work with children	10 lessons
Book selection	10 lessons	Administration	8 lessons

Other general lectures will be given by visiting librarians.

CREDITS.

Certificates will be given to those students who make the passing grade in all subjects and are in the opinion of the instructors qualified for service as librarians or assistants. These certificates will be issued only upon completion of one year of successful library experience after the summer training.

COURSE FOR SCHOOL LIBRARIANS.

This course offers the minimum training in library methods approved by the State Department of Public Instruction for school librarians in the state. It in no way takes the place of the training offered by a full year's course of study at an approved library school, which is strongly recommended of the librarians of the larger high schools of the state.

ADMISSION.

It is open to all teachers holding a state certificate under the present law and to others preparing to qualify as school librarians, provided that they have had at least two years in a normal school, college or university.

COURSE OF STUDY.

This course includes simplified cataloging and classification adapted to school libraries, accessioning, shelflisting, charging, book selection, book buying, repair of books, preparation for the shelves, planning and equipment of library rooms, etc.

Simplified cataloging ..... 20 lessons
Classification ..... 12 lessons
Reference including use of books as tools, aids for debates etc. 12 lessons
Library economy, including, book buying, accessioning, withdrawals, shelf-listing, mechanical preparation of books..... 10 lessons
Binding and mending ..... 2 lessons
School library administration including suggestions for giving instruction in the use of books and libraries ..... 10 lessons

Special lectures are also given by visiting school librarians and others.

The instruction is given in the form of lectures, supplemented by collateral reading, and practical work with books, subjected to daily revision.

CREDIT.

Certificates will be given to those students who make the passing grade in all subjects and are in the opinion of the instructors qualified for service as school librarians.

A list of those holding certificates will be filed in the offices of the State Department of Public Instruction and the Public Library Commission.

SUMMER SCHOOL FOR LIBRARIANS

FOR PUBLIC LIBRARIES AND SCHOOL LIBRARIES

TWENTY-FIFTH COURSE :: JUNE 14–JULY 24, 1926

SENATE CHAMBER OF STATE HOUSE
INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

The Public Library Commission has for twenty-four consecutive years conducted a training course for the librarians and assistants of public libraries of the state. Almost seven hundred students have taken this work and have been enabled, thereby, to render better service than they otherwise could have rendered in our libraries.

This summer course should not be considered by any student or by any people of the state as sufficient training for librarianship. It provides the minimum essentials only. No summer student is to be regarded as a "trained" librarian. It is hoped that an increasing number of those who attend this summer school will add college work and further library training to the elementary instruction given here.

The Organization and Extension Division of the Department will be responsible for this summer school this year.

COURSE OF STUDY

Standards for summer courses in Library Science prepared by the American Library Association Board of Education for Librarianship and adopted by the Council January 1, 1926, have been met.

	Class Hours
Cataloging, subject headings, etc.	18
Classification, shelflisting, etc.	12
		30
Book selection, including Children's Literature and also Trade Bibliography and Order Work	30	30
Library Administration	18
Reference work	12
		30
		90

These courses adapted to the needs will be offered to librarians and assistants in public libraries and to librarians of school libraries and teachers in charge of school libraries.

INSTRUCTORS

Instruction will be given by the staff, assisted by specialists in different subjects. Carrie E. Scott will give Work with Children; Mrs. Carl B. Roden, Book Selection; Flora B. Roberts, Public Library Administration. A few special lectures will be given by other well-known librarians.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

I. Librarians of public libraries—

1. Position in public library on regular schedule and definite salary, or appointment to such position.
2. High school diploma. In rare cases other individuals who give evidence of a wide knowledge of books and successful experience will be accepted.
3. At least four weeks' experience in a public library unless specially excused.
4. Aptitude and personal qualifications for library work and evidence of ability to pursue profitably the course outlined. A personal interview is desirable and should be arranged for if possible.
5. Reading of the following books:
   (1) Bostwick. American public library. 1923 ed.
   (2) Hunt. Library work with children.
   (3) Olcott. Children's reading.
   (4) Moore. Roads to childhood.
   (5) Wheeler. Library and the community.
   (6) Wilson. School library experience. (For school librarians.)

II. Librarians of School Libraries—

1. A teacher's license or at least two years of college or normal school education.
2. Aptitude and personal qualifications for library work, including a wide knowledge of books and evidence of ability to pursue profitably the course as outlined. A personal interview is desirable and should be arranged for if possible. Appointment to position as school librarian is not required.

In addition applicants should read the books on the appended juvenile list and one or two, as indicated, from each group on the adult list. If these books are not available at the local library they may be borrowed from the Organization and Extension Division of the Indiana Library and Historical Department, Rooms 332-333 State House. Most of this required reading should be done before the course begins, and the certificate of the school will not be given until the reading is completed.

LOCATION, EQUIPMENT AND ACCOMMODATIONS

Dormitory accommodation at the Y. W. C. A. will not be provided as in previous years. However, approximately twenty single rooms at the residence hall, commonly known as the BLUE TRIANGLE, will be available. The rate will be $10 per week, including breakfast and dinner at night. A list of rooms elsewhere will be available for those preferring different arrangements.

As there is no tuition fee, and as supplies and textbooks cost from $10 to $30, the total actual expense of attending the summer school should not exceed $125.

CREDIT FOR WORK DONE

Certificates will be given to those who have complied with all entrance requirements, have passed in all courses, and are in the opinion of the instructors qualified for service as librarians or assistants. These certificates will be issued only upon completion of one year of successful library experience after the summer training. Students not receiving certificates will be given pass cards for the courses successfully completed.

REGISTRATION

Address correspondence to Indiana Summer School for Librarians, 332 State House, Indianapolis.

Application for admission must be made and the required blanks filed before June 1, or earlier if possible. The quarters of the school are limited and supplies must be especially ordered. All students will register Monday morning, June 14. Classes will begin Monday afternoon at one o'clock from which no one may be excused.
